A HUNDRED IMITATIONS OF COD-LIVER OIL are being sold everywhere. Thousands of suffering persons are defrauded by this means, and cruelly wronged, and, as a consequence, an invaluable remedy falls into disrepute, by this shameful impositions. To guard against the foregoing fraud the most effective means consist in buying the article from reliable dealers reputed beyond suspicion, and verify the article by a close inspection of the wrappers around the bottles, and also observe the name of the firm blown in the glass, without which none is genuine. Lanman and Kemp's Pure White and Black Cod Liver Oil, enjoys an undisputed reputation for its purity throughout the Western Hemisphere, Europe and Australia. Only livers extracted from fresh fish, are used in its preparation, and it can be kept sweet for any length of time in any climate from the Pole to the Equator. Its unfailing efficacy is traceable to its purity, never having been known to fail even in the most acute cases of disease of the lungs, bronchitis, pneumonia, incipient consumption, congestion and consumption of the liver and all lung and throat affections, complicated by scrofula. To effect a cure in the shortest possible time, use one spoonfull of the oil mixed with two of the Pectoral of Anacahuita.

SAOURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1874.

THE O'GORMAN FAMILY.

The late Chief of Police and his brother, Canon O'Gorman, as well as their cousins, are lineal representatives of a family that traces its ascent to the time of Roderick O'Connor.

The documents before us are—

1, The patent of nobility of Thomas O'Gorman, Count of Cahir-Morrughu and Tullyorin, Co. Clare, who married Madlle. Marguerite Françoise D'Eon during his exile in France (1757); it bears the seal of Louis XV., February 1774.

2. The letters signed by Charles IV. of Spain (1799) and bearing the royal seal "Carolus Hispaniorum Rex," to Don Tomas O'Gorman, son of the above, allowing him to settle in Buenos Ayres and establish a factory for sugar and indigo. This document is original; the French one is only a copy.

The family records exhibited to Louis XV. give the following particulars—"The house of O'Gorman or MacGorman was founded in the 13th century, going back 14 generations, when Coneva, Lord of Hy-Breans and O'Gorman, was appointed Commander-in-Chief of the army of Turlogh O'Brien, King of Thomond and Limerick, against Clare, grandson of Edward I. of England. Coneva O'Gorman was buried in the royal pantheon at Ennis (1310). (Here follows a description of the family arms with a Gaelic motto signifying "first and last in the fight"). He was succeeded by his son, and left also a daughter Edenia, who married Murtagh O'Brien, King of Thomond; the armies of the latter, under O'Gorman, routed the English forces in 1274, Thomas Clare and his son being left on the field.

In the 14th, century John Coneva O'Gorman VI. married Honora daughter of Corny O'Connor, Lord of Corcumroc; about a century later we find the O'Gorman making a similar alliance with the noble family of Fitzgerald of Kerry (Coolesaghta). Subsequently the Black O'Garman married a daughter of the MacNamara-O'Brien, and from this period (1522) we find successive alliances with the noble families of MacMahon, More, MacNamara, during a disastrous epoch when the arms of Queen Elizabeth aided by famine reduced the southern portions of Ireland after many bloody battles. The estates of the O'Gormans were confiscated and given to English soldiers of fortune. O'Gorman Doun died in 1626, leaving 3 sons, the eldest of whom still kept the title of Cahir-Morrughu, and married Margaret Oreagh; their son Melachlin O'Gorman attained great distinction in the campaign (1690) against William of Orange, but after the fall of Limerick went into exile with Daniel O'Brien, the famous Lord Clare, whose regiment of Dragoons was covered with glory in the two great battles of Ramilies and Fontenoy against the English. Melachlin O'Gorman died in 1709, and his son Thomas O'Gorman, who married a grand-daughter of the above Lord Clare, died in 1754, aged 86 years. His son Mahoun married first into the house of O'Loghlin, secondly the daughter of O'Colman Donu, and served as an officer in the Irish Brigade of France. From him descended Victor Arnald O'Gorman of the Queen's Musqueteers, afterwards Captain of Dragoons in St. Domingo, and Capt. David O'Gorman of Dillon's Regiment.

The patent of nobility beginning with the preamble "Louis King of France to our well-beloved Chevalier O'Gorman" goes on to say, that among the nearest blood-relatives of the O'Gorman are, Lord Clare, Marshal of France, and Vice-Admiral MacNamara; and further that Chevalier O'Gorman's noble extraction has been testified by the Countess of Breteuil (Laura O'Brien Marèchale de Clare), by the Count of Thomond Marshal of France, and others. And in virtue also of the eminent services of his ancestors the King of France by consent of his Council recognizes him as a nobleman and lineal representative of the house of Cahir-Morrughu, and that all his lawful male descendants shall enjoy the rank and privileges of Peers of France. Given at Versailles, February, 1774, and ratified by the Parliament of Paris on May 9th, 1775.

The petition to the King of Spain sets forth (1799) that Thomas O'Gorman, formerly captain in Walsh's regiment of Irish Grenadier Guards of France, after the death of Louis XVI., emigrated to the Isle of France and there married Marie Perichon, daughter of the State-councillor of Pondicherry. Subsequently at the invitation of his cousin Dr. Miguel O'Gorman, a physician in Buenos Ayres, he removed thither with his wife and 3 children, bringing also with him implements and machinery for establishing a sugar factory in Paraguay.

The petition is four-fold.

1st. He asks for a grant of lands in Paraguay, the climate being similar to those parts of India visited by him.

2nd. He demands permission to import 600 negro slaves from Africa in his own vessel.

3rd. To introduce a number of workmen from Ireland to salt beef, make cheese, and export numerous articles for the trade of Spain.

4th. To procure Hindoo dyers, weavers, &c., from the Coromandel coast, to advance the cotton and indigo trades in Paraguay.

Chevalier O'Gorman reminds the King of Spain that His Majesty has always shewn great favor to Irish Catholic exiles. He offers also a donation of 400 silver dollars to the Cabildo of Buenos Ayres if his petition be granted. The King in reply asked the Viceroy (1801) to report upon O'Gorman and his project, and this report seems to have been favourable since we find the King's rescript of 1803 allows O'Gorman as much land as he may require for one or more factories, with permission to import 600 negroes from Africa, and as many workmen from Ireland as he may choose provided they be Catholics. Finally he recommends O'Gorman to employ good coopers and send the beef in better condition than the shippers of Buenos Ayres, have heretofore sent it to Habana and other countries.

These documents plainly prove that the O'Gorman family is one of the most distinguished that settled in the New World, representing some of the oldest blood in Europe. Marshals of France and old Irish nobles who wrote their names on the fields of Ramilies, Fontenoy, Limerick, Aughrim and the Boyne; Musqueteers of the Queen, Dragoons of the Clare and Dillon regiments; such were the ancestors of D. Enrique O'Gorman, and the rest of this long-established family.

The signature of Charles IV. of Spain is now dimmed with age, but still bold and dashing like his heroic fore-fathers who expelled the Moors. Since then the Spanish crown has been kicked about in the mire, and the traditions of the Cid Campeador, Carlos Quinto and all the romance of Spanish chivalry ridiculed and profaned. The document before us vividly brings back the past, as it just disinterred from the dusty archives of San Ildefonso.

THE SITUATION.

FIFTY-FIRST DAY

Some of the Government papers say the war will be over before the end of November. The Mitristas also assert that everything will be settled before the end of the year. One assertion is as likely as the other,

The Verdad bulletin says positively that a battle has taken place, but doubts the rumor of the Government army having sustained heavy losses. By last accounts the main army under Minister Alsina was at some distance from Dolores, still marching: the men had received clothing and one month's pay. Dolores telegrams say that General Mitre and army passed through Arenales on Sunday, 8th inst., which would seem to contradict the rumor that the revolutionary forces were retiring on Laguna de los Padres.

The 6th Regiment of the Line left town by the Southern Railway for Altamirano Junction on Thursday. We hear that the Palermo students have taken their place, mounting guard at the National Government House. President Avellaneda is said to have received more important telegrams from Colonel Rocca, who is probably still at San Luis, as by last accounts he was short of horses.

Governor Barros is said to have again left town. Several prisoners have arrived from the camp districts, and the Verdad says that any foreigners captured from the enemy will be put to serve as soldiers of the Line.

The same paper contradicts the rumour of Gen. Mitre's fleet having captured the war-vessel Rosetti; adding that it seems the Rosetti, Anita, and Don Gonzalo are gone to reinforce the Government fleet, now eight war steamers. Cannon-shots were again heard off our port on Thursday, but it is supposed to have been some foreign gun boat at ball-practice.

The Tribuna says Governor Barros and President Avellaneda had another conference on Thursday. It adds the 6th of the Line proceeded by Ensenada railway to Altamirano, which is impossible, but the Southern railway is plainly meant. When the 6th batt. was leaving the Government-house President Avellaneda and his Ministers appeared on the balcony. It seems a Corps of observation was established on the 10th at Altamirano, the troops there now comprising 3 batts. of Line infantry, 2 of camp militia, 2 regiments of cavalry, and a brigade of artillery with 4 Krupp guns.

The War-office issued an order yesterday that no one is to leave Buenos Ayres without a passport from the Chief of Police. The Governor has issued a similar decree.

A letter from Admiral Py's flagship 'Uruguay,' dated Montevideo, Wednesday evening (11th) says that a mutiny occurred aboard the revolutionary war steamer 'General Rivas,' in which Captain Magnasco was killed, adding that General Gelly-Obes had gone aboard.

Colonel Ayala telegraphs from La Paz, 11th inst., that Gov. Gelabert assured the Gefe of Goya that the rebels under Placido Martinez had submitted and accepted a free pardon.

Advices from Gualeguaychú, 12th inst., report a skirmish between the Government troops under Velasquez and a band of rebels near Montiel, in which the latter are said to have been cut to pieces, their leader slain, and the survivors taken prisoners.

Governor Barros has gratefully accepted (Nov. 9th) the offer of two wards in the Italian Hospital for wounded Nat. Guards, should such arrive.

Colonel Mansilla reports having reviewed a division of 2,500 men at Rosario for the new Army of reserve: he left on Thursday for Cordoba. Two more battalions embarked yesterday at Santa Fé for Rosario.

The Nacional says that the mutiny on board the Rivas was so serious that Captain Magnasco and 12 others were killed or wounded, and that the Paraná and Rivas are now near Solis Grande, on the way towards Rio Grande.

COUNT D'EU AT SAN PAULO.

Santos, Nov. 1st.

Count D'Eu has been making a tour of this Province, and was every where received with great rejoicings. On the 23rd His Imperial Highness visited Campinas, in company with Count Barral, the President of San Paulo, and other dignitaries. After inspecting the Mogyana railway terminus and several factories and institutions he repaired to the palace of Baroness Aranha, where he dined and stopped the night. Next morning he proceeded on horseback to Sete Quedas colony, and on his return dined with Baron Atibaya; in the evening he was received with 3 cheers on entering the theatre, one for Don Pedro, another for Count D'Eu, a third for the Princess.

From Campinas he proceeded by rail to Mogyana, where he took horse for Nova Lauza, but by this time the President and Count Barral were so beaten up that they returned by rail to San Paulo (26th October.) The Prince spent two days riding over the plantations, and when leaving Campinas on his return to San Paulo was accompanied by thousands of citizens to the railway station. He reached San Paulo on the 29th, and was received by the President and a guard of honor. The same day he went over all the workshops of the Santos railway, an English company; and in the evening rode up to Iparanga the cradle of Brazilian Independence, expressing his surprise to Count Barral that no obelisk or monument was erected there in honor of the event.

A grand banquet at the President's palace was followed by a gala performance at the theatre, which was crowded from floor to ceiling. Next day (30th) the Prince visited Counsellor Carrao's vineyard and wine-presses, Col. Silva's plantation, and Col. Araujo's famous wine factory; in the evening he inspected the San Paulo public schools, examined the students, and made an address expressive of the satisfactory condition of the schools. Baron Queiroz gave a splendid ball, and dancing was kept up till daylight. Nevertheless the Prince was again on horseback in the forenoon of the 31st, and made a tour of the hospitals and barracks of the city.

This morning he left San Paulo amid a grand popular demonstration, and arrived here by rail at 11 a.m., being received here with the same rejoicings as elsewhere. His Imperial Highness visited all the public institutions of Santos, and at 4 p.m. went aboard the Santa Maria for Rio Janeyro, extremely pleased with the unmistakeable loyalty of the Paulistas towards the Emperor, and their affection for all the imperial family and the institutions wherewith are bound up the happiness and progress of Brazil.

A WEEK'S SOJOURN IN THE HIGHLANDS

CHAPTER II

At 7.40 a.m. on the following day we took train for Ballater, a dark and misty morning preventing us from seeing to its full extent the natural beauties of the country through which we were passing. This village was reached at ten o'clock, where coaches were in readiness for the conveyance of passengers to Braemar, and here again we were in luck, for waiting until everyone else had got uncomfortably crammed into their several places the driver informed us that the box seats were at our disposal. The air was now much colder, but with all bracing and agreeable, and the drive along the Dee side one of the loveliest imaginable, exclamations of delightful supriso (especially from the fair sex) greeting our ears as the bends of the road revealed to their admiring gaze the ever varying scenery that extends along the entire course of the River Dee; on this road we passed the Sailor Prince, but his appearance in no way savoured of the sea, he having, like all genuine Tars, left what is associated with that element on shipboard, and donned the Highland kilts in which he showed to much advantage. Proceeding on our way at a round pace a halt was shortly made at Crathie, where fresh horses were in waiting. An excellent view was had of Balmoral, and a more enchanting site could scarcely have been chosen for the Scottish residence of our gracious sovereign. Shortly before one o'clock the coach pulled up in front of the Fife Arms, where we were made heartily welcome by our old friend the proprietor. And it may here be observed that intending visitors to this place would do well to secure rooms before hand, as notwithstanding there are two large hotels capable jointly of accommodating upwards of two hundred sleepers, the throng of tourists in the season is so great that even the villagers' cottages are uncomfortably crammed, and many have to forage as best they may.

The remainder of the day was passed in visiting the Falls of Corry Mulzie, and the following one was spent at the Linn of Dee. Sunday now intervened, and on this day the church of Crathie is the great centre of attraction. Strictly speaking, it is neither the sacred edifice nor the preacher that entices many who at this particular time repair with so much eagerness to its doors; but it is to gain a sight of the royal and noble personages who worship there, and are in like turn worshipped by their fellow creatures. The proof of this is occasionally given by some who are not ashamed to leave the church when it becomes known that royalty will not be present. Such, however, is the custom of life, where the exalted command the homage of their more humble brethren, who in some instances cannot forbear showing their adulation even in the house of God. The inclemency of the weather on Monday had the effect of keeping most people in-doors, and billiard-playing, with the usual accompaniments of smoking and drinking, seemed to be the order of the day.

Next morning broke clear and fine, and having now the honor to escort two young ladies, we drove to the base of Loch-na-Garr, where a guide and ponies were in waiting. The ascent of this mountain would have been a little toilsome but for our availing ourselves of the ponies when fatigued; and in this manner, alternately walking and riding, the summit was gained after about three hours' climbing, when the prospect that now opened out before us baffles all description. Well might one despair of portraying the stupendous nature of this grand and awe-inspiring sight! and a feeling of utter insignificance creeps over us as we contemplate the immense amphitheatre of mountains that stretch as far as the eye can reach, and the placid water of the lake far beneath, which, joined with the striking grandeur of the wildest sterility and lonely silence of the place, formed a scene the impression of which can never be effaced. The descent occupied about two hours, and was got through without further mishap than one of our fair companions stepping into a bog, from which she was speedily extricated none the worse for the slight soaking.

We arrived at the hotel in time for dinner, towards the conclusion of which meal some confusion was occasioned by the Queen and her Imperial daughter-in-law driving past, the occupants of the table eagerly rushing to get a glimpse of Her Majesty, whose countenance betrayed considerable merriment at the stampede she had thus innocently created. This being our last night at Castleton, the proprietor of the Invercauld Arms (in whom we discovered another Buenos Ayres friend,) invited us to drink some 18 year old whiskey, which assisted in making us on the best possible terms with ourselves and neighbours. Next morning we found the father of our mountain guide awaiting the opportunity of bidding us farewell; being now too old for following his former calling he leases the highest situated farm under cultivation in Scotland (1,500 feet above sea level,) from the returns of which, and various odds and ends, he manages to get a comfortable living. Having entertained us with a story of the extreme liberality of a certain generous Englishman (evidently taking us for southerners,) he concluded by saying that this gentleman was "as gude a man as ony Hielaman," which, doubtless, was intended as a very high compliment. Having taken this delicate hint, and duly satisfied our aged friend, we mounted the coach and presently started for Blairgowrie, via the Spittal of Glenshee, which latter place was safely reached at noon. Here fresh horses were procured, the poor jaded animals that had taken us this far being scarcely able to walk to the stables. Although this drive in fine weather would have been exceedingly enjoyable, yet the cold and rainy day made us heartily wish ourselves at the journey's end; and, along with the other passengers, we were indebted to a gallant officer who talked incessantly most of the time, recounting many hair-breadth escapes and startling adventures that he had witnessed in distant parts of the world during his eventful and chequered career, and thus managed to make the time hang less heavily on our hands. It is true that exception might have been taken to some of his statements, the warrior having evidently concluded that he was the only man of travel on the vehicle; and this was frequently remarked on the trip that in any promiscuous company into which we might be thrown it was quite unnecessary to say anything, and indeed we preferred to take the part of listeners, although the discourses were not always either very edifying or instructive, having frequently for their object the desire to impress on the company the greatness or importance of the speakers.

At Blairgowrie, where we arrived cold and hungry at two o'clock, we found an excellent dinner at the hotel before which the coach stopped; and now nothing more remained but to take train to the western metropolis, where we found ourselves safely in the evening, and could well realize the contrast between this teeming hive of industry and the sparsely populated and secluded country which the modern facilities of travelling had enabled us to leave behind within a few hours.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Royal Mail steamer Douro sails this afternoon for the Brazils and England. The mail bags close at the Capitania at 1.30 p.m. Our Packet Edition is on sale up to the hour of the steamer's departure.

We omitted yesterday to recommend to our readers the first chapter of 'A Week in the Highlands,' the author of which is a Britisher well and favorably known here. As his story shows, even in the very heart of the Highlands Buenos Ayres men and the STANDARD are sure to turn up. We publish the second and concluding chapter to-day. Several parties who read the first yesterday have made up their minds to do the identical trip described when they make their next European tour. Those lake steamers are something special in their way, and our contributor tells us that the 'cuisine' on board is sublime, and what is better, sublimely cheap. Fancy a breakfast of nine courses, in which fresh salmon, grouse, venison and other game are included, for the ridiculously wretched sum of two shillings sterling, or twelve paper dollars! Oh ye Gods! What must the dinner for 'two and six' be? "If ever we live till we die," we'll make this trip in the bonnie Highlands of old Caledonia.

The score of the cricket match at Palermo on Wednesday, between Married and Single, will be found in another column. We only learned yesterday that the weather for the occasion was made to order, which accounts for its having been so fine. We would give an order for a week or two of the same weather, if we knew where the manufactory is.

Sympathising subscribers will learn with unfeigned pleasure (at least we hope so) that there is every chance of the STANDARD Museum doing as the Phœnix did. We received yesterday from Mr. Edmund Cranwell, who lately opened the superb 'botica' in Calle Victoria, a collection of articles of which the British Museum will be envious, and which we purpose to make the foundation whereon the S.M. will rise to a pinnacle of celebrity it never before reached, even in its palmy days in Calle Belgrano, when every freshly arrived yokel from the Old World used to make his first rush to 'the STANDARD Museum,' and on being shown the unpainted deal table on which our countless treasures were spread, do as the Cossacks did when those of the Louvre at Paris first burst on their gaze, viz—'pause in barbarian astonishment lost.' Mr. Cranwell's generous gift enables us to look forward to a return of the days we refer to. The collection was made by him during his tour in Europe last year, and the following is the catalogue:—

1. Specimen taken from the ruins of the Temple of Venus in the town of Cuma, (now called Baiæ) near Naples, on 4th December 1873.
2. Pill-box containing ashes collected on Mount Vesuvius on 28th April 1873. (Note. Looks mighty like charcoal tooth-powder).
3. Do containing some rare yellow stuff uncommonly like sulphur, found at Vesuvius on 1st December 1873.
4. Do containing yellow and white substances with a strong odour of rhubarb powders, taken from an extinct crater near the grotto of Juno, in the town of Pozzoli near Naples, on November 28th 1873.
5. Lava taken from the crater of Vesuvius on 1st December 1873, (Looks like mortar and has a 'pestle'-ential smell).
6. Tooth-powder box containing a specimen of cotton grown at Pompeii, culled Nov. 28th 1873.
7. Photograph of defunct citizen of Pompeii stretched on a billiard table of the period, was probably unable to go home, and was 'caught napping' by the earthquake; left leg and right hand gone.
8. Photograph of another defunct Pompeyan, in much better preservation than the billiard player.
9. Photograph of the ruins of a quinta in the environs of Pompeii. Splendid old place; nothing like it even on the Flores Road.
10. Photograph of the ruins of Diomede's house at Pompeii; nothing left but the cellar and the 'algibe,' as big as the Plaza Victoria.

For the first time this season the thermometer got a few degrees over summer heat yesterday, and it was a case of 'coats off' with us in the Court. Rain is near.

There were again plenty of rumours about the Situation yesterday. The Mount papers continue to devote much space to news from this side, still but little except what the papers here publish can be gathered from their columns. This is the Fifty-second day of the fizzle.

The Brazilian papers contain terrible accounts of the inundation of the town of Santo Amaro through the river of that name overflowing its banks and washing half the place into Kingdom-come. There appears to have been little or no loss of life, but the damage to property is estimated at 400,000$000 reis.

The Italian papers publish advices from River Plate correspondents in which it is stated that the killing this year will not reach two thirds of the usual faena. The total B. O. faena is given at 344,400 head.

The Lisbon Steam Tramway Company has got into legal grips with a Mrs. Duarte. The Co. killed her husband in a smash, and she wants to be paid for him; she'd have taken half nothing for him while he was on this side of the grave, but now that he is on the other side of Jordan, "distance lends enchantment to the view," and she asks an exorbitant price for him.

We remarked among the list of 'inhumaciones' published yesterday an unpleasant number of premature demises from 'heridas.' This looks badly.

An American buggy trotting match will take place to-morrow at Montevideo between Mr. Ferdinand Nebel junr. and an Italian gentleman. Mr. N. gives his opponent one square in every twenty, and the latter offers to bet anything from 10 pats. to 200,000 or more that he will win the race. This ought to be an exciting match.

The Cologne Gazette has lately favored its readers with an explanation on the etymology of the now world-famous name of Bismarck. It says it is a corruption of the words Bischoff (Bishop) and Mark (Limit). Some of the great Chancellor's family were at one time Bishops of Haiberstedt.

The Montevidean papers recount a wholesale tragedy as having lately taken place in one of the interior departments of that Republic. Six 'carreros' were travelling along, and meeting eight Neapolitans, gave them a 'lift' and food into the bargain for several days. One night, while the poor cartmen were asleep, the Neapolitans murdered them all and buried them in the camp, making off with the carts and oxen. The owner of an estancia where they halted, however, knew the carts, and suspecting something was wrong, sent for the nearest commissary, who soon arrived. The murderers resisted, and seven of them were killed in the fight, the survivor surrendering and confessing the fearful crime.

The London correspondent of the Liverpool Mercury is responsible for the following—I have been told rather a good story about a well known writer—that prose Tupper 'A.K.H.B.' The author of these terribly twaddling 'Recreations' and 'Thoughts' of a 'Country Parson,' which Mr. Froude so strangely allowed to be published in so high-class a periodical as Frazer's Magazine, was some time ago travelling, and fell into conversation with a fellow-voyager. Finding him well informed and agreeable, Dr. Boyd asked him to dinner. The gentleman being a tourist, and therefore wisely not burdened with a superfluity of luggage, presented himself at Dr. Boyd's house in a grey suit. The 'Country Parson,' on seeing his guest manifested considerable uneasiness, and at last plainly told his visitor that he feared he must postpone his dinner, inasmuch as Mrs. Boyd always expected her guests to be in evening dress. 'Pray don't mention it,' replied the stranger, 'I would not think of intruding on Mrs. Boyd; I will leave a card for her.' So he took his departure, and the master of the house then ascertained that the angel whom he had not entertained unawares was the Earl of Fife.

Papers from the Interior are now looked for with much interest, but there were none received yesterday. Indeed, when they do arrive there is nothing in them from the Interior, all their news being copied from Buenos Ayres. The Cordóba papers that ought to be full of news from the Interior never have a blessed word.

Women are now employed in shearing on all the Santa Fe estancias, and it is said that they do the work quite as well as their male kind, who 'to the wars have gone.'

No. 9785 won the thousand ounces prize in the lottery down at Montevideo on Tuesday last. Another with 5000 pats. for 'premio mayor' is drawn to-day.

The Alcazar has subsided; its patrons are out of town.

The Italian Government has adopted a wise sanitary measure in reference to the thousands now pouring from its shores to South America. No minor under 16 years who has not been properly vaccinated will be allowed to embark in any emigrant vessel.

Great news from China! The surveying expedition in the United States frigate Tuscarora has arrived off the Celestial Coast, and reports that there will not be the slightest difficulty in laying a cable from San Francisco to Yokohama and Pekin, in fact that it will be less expensive and easier than laying a cable across the Atlantic.

The Rev. Father Savino, of the Order of St. Vincent, will preach to-morrow at San Roque church after the 11 o'clock Mass, in English. We hear the Rev. gentleman is a most eloquent preacher.

We earnestly recommend to our readers the article in another column entitled 'The O'Gorman Family.' It is indeed most interesting and has a double charm for us, as several bearers of illustrious name have been in our employment, one of them, Mr. Stand-by O'Gorman, having reached a pinnacle of telegraphic fame which it is given to few to attain. The O'Gorman patents of nobility signed by Louis the XV. of France are now in our office for inspection; the signature of King Carlos of Spain granting a sugar concession and leave to import niggers to one of the family, is curious.

CRICKET.

B. A. C. C.

Married v. Single

At foot we append the score of the above match played at Palermo on Wednesday last, resulting, as will be seen, in favor of the Benedicts, with plenty in hand.

Good cricket was shown on both sides, but the the determined stand made by Messrs. Simpson and Jacobs at a critical point of the game, during which the bowling of their opponents was completely collared, rendered the contest a less close one than was anticipated.

The ground was in good condition, the attendance encouraging, and the weather made to orde.

Nov, 13th 1874.

Ounces	400
Sovs	122½
Pats	25
Nat. Bonds	68
Cedulas	78⅛

Cedulas hold their own against everything, the bears seem impotent to break the market, whilst the bulls maintain that 78 is bottom. The news from the country was sufficiently exciting, due to the various rumours afloat.

Mr. Wilson Jacobs, the deceased of the foreign money brokers, was warmly welcomed on 'Change, on his return from Europe; also Mr. H L Green of the firm of Green Le Rossignol and Co. Another portion of the day's business was leave taking, a frisky band stood at the threshold of the hall to say fare well Mr. Sohn Krabbe of Montevideo, Mr. Charles Krabbe, Mr. C. Krabbe jr., Mr. W. Heald and Mr. Williamson; we do hope to see them all back soon, for the Hegira is important, and when we strike from our limited commercial community such a long string of names we naturally feel the void.

In the wool markets there is still the same activity. Messr. Peyredieu & Bradley sold this morning in the South market various lots, in all 5,000 ar., at from 79 to 96, there still remains some 10,000 ar. in that market. In the North market 25,000 ar. sold. Mr. E. Casey sold this morning:—

There was much said on 'Change to-day about a special sealed gold deposit made some weeks ago, about 11,000 ounces, which was withdrawn to-day and the gold sent to the Oficina de Cambios to be changed for paper; this occurrence forms really a most instructive lesson.

Mr. William Roberts of the Southern Railway was welcomed on 'Change to-day on his return from Europe.

The French packet Senegal, took 90 passengers to Europe and a full cargo. The mails from Montevideo this morning announce the sale of new wool down there at 42½ from department San Jose, and another lot of about 3000 ar. to arrive at reserved price. In dry hides 3000 from Entre Rios at 7,80. In horse hair 12 bales at 21,50 in Barraca. Wools are now coming in pretty freely at Montevideo, but owing to the last telegrams prices rule flatter. The most remarkable event in Montevidean commercial circles is that published in the Telegrafo with such feeling comments. An editor swindled out of 4000 pats. The occurrence is certainly unusual, for few editors there are with so much spare cash: the fraud is a double one and the felony unexampled in Oriental records. Mr. Francis Gibbs has been named by Government Secretary of the Junta at Colonia. The invasion of the Uruguay portion of the Banda Oriental by locusts has caused much alarm in Montevideo where letters have been received giving terrible news of the losses of the Colon colony Entre Rios. The locusts and the revolution form the closing chapters for the year in the Plate.

The sale of a Montreal pine cargo 380,000 feet at 42 pats is announced.

Telegrams have come out from London announcing that the contract for railway bars for the line from Las Flores to Azul has been cancelled; this of course is due to the news of the revolution.

There was great discussion in the market today about the Argentine Bank, and its proposed arrangements with its creditors. It seems that the creditors are unwilling to accept the 'boletos' offered by the Bank, because the 10 per cent interest which the Bank pays is not upon the whole debt, but upon the amount in the 'boleto' for the term therein expressed. As the matter at present stands the 'boletos' except for the running quarter have no great market value, since even the Bank refuses to accept in payment of a debt its own obligation for the current quarter, and to sell a debt due by the Bank the creditor must sell a series of 'boletos' extending over a period of five years. It is difficult to offer an opinion on the matter, since consulting the shareholders interest we must admit that the proposed arrangement is for them an admirable one, whilst on the other hand the creditors' interest seems every way to suffer, since the 'bolotos' in a series running over so long a period will be always difficult of sale even at the most serious shave. In the event of the present arrangement being carried out, the Bank and its shareholders will hold a splendid position, but the question is a knotty one.

Again we have the hopeful news from Entre Rios of the Entre Riano Bank having overcome its troubles and being about to reopen its doors; the sooner the better, as that province is flooded with the paper money of the closed bank.

The Spanish brig Restaurador has been chartered in Montevideo to load 5,000 quintals jerked beef in the Uruguay for Cuba at 6½ and 10 o/o.

It appears that owing to the Montevidean Government decree respecting the ounces there are probabilities that nearly all the ounces down there will come up here, as the Government has ordered the credito publico and all the Government offices to refuse to receive ounces that do not give the exact weight prescribed by law. The Montevidean Government people could hardly hit upon a better expedient to clear their market of gold than the decree in question, since the gold ounce that is rejected down there passes current here. Mr. Bustamante is perhaps not aware that even in England where the law fixes the exact weight of the sovereign a tare of 3 sovereigns weight in every thousand is allowed by the bank of England. We here of course have no cause to complain of the edict in question, but is it fair of the Montevidean Minister to victimize the merchants down there and clean out the Montevidean market of all the ounces the banks and merchants may hold. When we consider the chronic impecuniosity of the Oriental Government and the repeated efforts of all parties to buoy up the Oriental exchequer, we must say we are astonished at the decree in question, which can only serve the B. Ayres money market at the cost of the Montevidean.

The following note we cut from the last Trade Journal received; the news is always instructive since it shows pretty clearly the go aheadism of the Belgian manufacturers:—

"The Assistant Inspector of Factories (Mr. D. Walker), in his report recently issued, says: When lately in Glasgow a somewhat strange circumstance was brought under my notice, and inquiries I have since made convince me that the statement was substantially correct, viz., that woollen yarns are extensively imported into this country from Belgium and sold principally in Scotland, cheaper in price and fully of as good quality as spun in this country from the same description of wool, which comes principally from South America."

The following is the latest from Rio—

"Exchange. After the sailing of the steamer the Banks opened their rates at 26½, and in consequence of large sales of coffee Commercial bills were offered and passed to a large amount at 26⅜ and ½.

"On the 9th Commercial bills were scarce at 26⅝ and something was effected at 26,9/16, which rates were maintained until the 15th, when Banks reduced their rate to 26⅜, and Commercial paper has since been passed at 26⅜ and 9/16, with small transactions at 26⅝.

ORIENTAL

Telegram Agency.

57—CALLE SAN MARTIN—57

(Opposite the Bolsa)

Names and Addresses, if registered through these Agencies, are counted and chargod as ONE WORD only. No charge is made for this registration.

The charge for the first word also covers cost of transmission by Telegraph of the place from which the Message is sent, date, and time of despatch.

A special feature of these agencies consists in telegraphing the number of words in each despatch.

It will greatly facilitate business if the registered number is placed upon Messages before being handed in for transmission.

Extracts from the Oriental Telegram Company's Rules.

Rule 3.—Implicit Secrecy is to be observed with regard to Messages, not only as to their contents, but not information is to be given as to whether any person or firm has or has not sent a message.

Rule 4.—Complaints of error, delay, or of any other nature, should be made by the person forwarding the message. The Receiving Agent cannot give any information on the subject, and should be very careful not to speculate upon the causes of delays, &c.

Rule 9.—Every message must be signed by the sender.

Rule 10.—All messages are to be prepaid to their destination.

Rule 34.—In the event of doubt arising as to the correctness of a message, the Cable Company may be prevailed upon to repeat it; but the Rules of the Cable Company must be regarded in this matter, and the message cannot be rectified at the expense of the Oriental Agency.

The system adopted exclusively by these Companies insures a degree of accuracy in the transmission of telegrams acknowledged by the chief Cable Companies never to have been attained by any other agency.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that Messrs Lamas and Co. are definitely installed by the Head Office, London, as Agents of the above Telegraphic Agency, in the River Plate.

Merchants, bankers and others are invited to register their names without delay. Registration gratis, after which the names and addresses of firms and their correspondents count as ONE word only.

The Registration Book is now opened, and we earnestly request those intending to register to come early, so that the lists may be ready for the first steamer.

THE ATTENTION OF

BANKERS, MERCHANTS BROKERS

AND

SHAREHOLDERS

IS RESPECTIVELY INVITED TO THE

General Telegraph Code

COMPILED

COTTON TELEGRAPH CODE

(Now in its 32nd Edition, and enjoying an almost complete monopoly in the Cotton Trade and a continually increasing demand).

The compiler of the present work has been engaged ever since the opening of the First Atlantic Cable, in constructing and perfectiug this system, which years of experience in telegraphing, has proved beyond question

THE MOST ECONOMICAL AND SAFEST IN EXISTENCE.

The great aim to be kept in view in constructing a Code, is, not only to make it as complete and economical as possible, but also of so simple a nature that everyone can understand it at a glance, without having to study the book A complicated Code, used in a bungling manner, may result in the most disastrous consequences. On the other hand, a Code may be made up of sentences of so very little utility as to prove quite useless in working.

It would manifestly be impossible to construct a Code, which would suit every respective business, and meet all requirements and emergencies; but the General Telegraph Code, by aid of a few manuscript additions (for which blank ciphers have been provided under each heading), such, for instance, as the insertion of any particular articles or qualities, in which a Firm specially deals, as nearly approaches perfection, as it is possible for such a work to do, SECRECY is with some Firms (and with ALL in times of difficulty) a matter of the highest importance. It is of no use whatever to provide a compli ated method of changing cipher words, by means of substituting different letters for those used in the ciphers, not only is it very easy to make most fatal errors in this manner, but it must also be born in mind that the Telegraph Authorities do not accept any combinations of letters, other than 'bona-fide' dictionary words.

With a view to providing the public with really good private Codes, a number of SMALL EDITIONS of this work have been PRINTED WITH ENTIRELY NEW CIPHERS, to which special attention is drawn.

The great objection to the use of cipher messages, is the occurrence of errors; with a view of avoiding this, a SIMPLE METHOD OF CHECKING THE ACCURACY OF A TELEGRAM; or, in case of error, of DISCOVERING WHAT THE FAULTY WORD REALLY IS, by means of a single extra word in the telegram, has been attached to the book, and will be found to be of inestimable value.

A trial of the book will place the matter of its complete superiority beyond question.

Appended are a few SPECIMEN TELEGRAMS, showing the economical working of the General Telegraph Code:—

"From J. Brown and Son, Wednesday, 11 a.m.—Give firm offer of 350 tons of West Hartlepool Steam Coal at 22/4. Must have an answer by 5 p.m."

4 ciphers required.

"Have bought and shipped per sailing vessel 900 bags Rangoon Rice at 27/2. Ship sails week after next, and is classed in French Veritas: III. 3/3, l o. Have insured for 4,000; have drawn at 10 d/s with documents attached. Market closing with hardening tendency in price."

7 ciphers required.

"Market falling rapidly; we are anxious in consequence of the extensive dealing with us of Brown and Son; do you think they are safe? We shall require all outstanding balances. At what can you charter a steamer for Bahia?"

7 ciphers required.

SAVINGS BANK

BANK MAUA AND CO

101--Calle Cangallo--103

BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo, and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá & Co in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other novelties.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. of this city, following the example of their firm in Montevideo, offer the same facilities in this city, and has opened a Savings Bank at No 103 Calle Cangallo from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. every day, for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned, Sundays and holidays excepted.

The Bank will deliver to each depositors a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interes will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

Buenos Ayres, 2nd January, 1862

P. P. MAUÁ & Co.,
M. A. DE FREITAS AMORIM,
E. DE LAS CARRERAS.

CONDITIONS.

First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency or one Silver Dollar upwards.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p. %) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wish can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.
